

February 7, 2013

Spirit Airlines Initiates Weather Buster Policy for Boston and New York LaGuardia

In order to offer customers flexibility, Spirit Airlines has activated its Weather Buster protection policy in response to potential flight changes resulting from the winter storm in the Northeast.

For customers holding reservations for travel to, from or through affected locations between Friday, February 8, 2013 and Saturday, February 9, 2013, Spirit Airlines will waive the change fee and difference in fare, provided that customers rebook their travel plans before the date and time of their original reservation, and travel on or before February 28, 2013.

Customers who wish to move their travel beyond February 28, 2013, will not be charged a change fee, however any difference in fare will apply.

Locations included in this Weather Buster protection policy:

- Boston (BOS)
- New York LaGuardia (LGA)

Customers can make changes to their reservations affected by this Weather Buster on Spirit's website at www.spirit.com under the "Manage Travel" tab.

Customers may also call the Spirit Reservations Center at 800-772-7117 (Español 800-756-7117) to make their flight changes.

Customers may check for the latest flight updates in the "Flight Status" section of Spirit's homepage at www.spirit.com.